Next to your dress, your hair and make-up are the most important part of your dream-come-true wedding! At the very least, a bride's make-up should live up to her dress, her hair, and the mood of the occasion. Melissa wants the make-up to act as an extension of who her client is, and it's important to her to listen and respond to the brides hopes and dreams, whether that means classic, dramatic or fashion-forward. Your bridal make-up will be captured forever in your wedding photos. Therefore, it's very important to plan your bridal make-up look well in advance. Ensure that Melissa will be available for you by contacting her early in the planning stages.

Here are some wedding day make-up tips that will have you looking picture perfect.

Hire a professional make-up artist such as Melissa. The expense of using a professional is well worth it. On your wedding day, you will be nervous and won't want to do your make-up yourself. Relying on a friend or family member isn't the best option.

Have a pre-wedding consultation a few weeks before your wedding. Melissa includes one consultation as part of her pricing. Bring a swatch from your wedding dress and bring your veil and pictures of how you will be wearing your hair. Doing so will give Melissa an idea of what she will be working with on your wedding day.

Trial Application

Trial consists of a 1-hour consultation to discuss the look you would like to achieve on your wedding day. Make-up is done at the location of your choice.

Day of Wedding

Professional make-up application will be done for the Bride, Bridesmaids and the Mother of the Bride and Groom. Please call to discuss rates.
